2010-2011 Global Undergraduate Exchange Program in Eurasia and Central Asia

A PROGRAM OF THE BUREAU OF EDUCATIONAL AND CULTURAL AFFAIRS OF THE UNITED STATES DEPARTMENT OF STATE

Thank you for your interest in the Global Undergraduate Exchange Program (Global UGRAD).

For more than half a century, the United States has supported international educational and cultural exchange programs as an investment in global understanding and peace. Such exchange programs have a long track record of bringing future leaders from around the world to the United States.

Formerly known as the Eurasian Undergraduate Exchange Program, the Global UGRAD Program provides opportunities for 135 outstanding students from Eurasia and Central Asia to study at U.S. universities and colleges during the 2010-2011 academic year.

The Bureau of Educational and Cultural Affairs of the U.S. Department of State is responsible for the management and oversight of the Global UGRAD Program. Underlying the role of exchanges in U.S. foreign policy is the belief that mutual understanding is of vital importance in an increasingly interdependent world and that person-to-person exchange and training is the most effective way to promote mutual understanding. International exchanges enhance the effectiveness of the United States in dealing with other nations, and the exchange of persons and ideas is essential to the promotion of democracy, economic prosperity, international cooperation, peace and security around the world.
